

Who Uses MEPS?

The Medical Expenditures Panel Survey (MEPS) is a national survey of families and individuals and of their medical providers. Data from MEPS have been used to estimate healthcare use, spending, and private and public insurance coverage in the United States.

MEPS researchers include statisticians, social scientists, and health services researchers in universities around the United States; government agencies; and private organizations. MEPS users include the following organizations:

South Region

Private-Sector Organizations
American Association of Retired Persons American Academy of Family Physicians American Academy of Head and Neck Surgery American Academy of Physician Assistants American Cancer Society American Heart Association American Psychological Association American Urological Association America's Health Insurance Plans Association of American Medical Colleges	Baptist Health South Blue Cross Blue Shield Booz Allen Hamilton Center for Science in the Public Interest Econometrica, Inc. Family Medicine Clinic Institute for Health Care Management Institute for Women's Policy Research Kaiser Family Foundation Mercer Associates Migrant Clinicians Network	Oklahoma Foundation for Medical Quality, Inc. Population Association of America Price Waterhouse Corporation Public Broadcasting Company Rally Health, Inc. RTI International Social & Scientific Systems The Alignment Group Healthcare The Pew Charitable Trusts Urban Institute
Government Agencies
Bureau of Labor Statistics Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services Congressional Budget Office Department of Health and Human Services	Department of Labor Food and Drug Administration Health Services and Resources Administration Houston Health Department Indian Health Service	National Cancer Institute National Institutes of Health Office of Minority Health U.S. Census Bureau Veterans Health Administration
Universities
American University Baylor College of Medicine Duke University Emory University School of Medicine Florida Atlantic University Florida International University George Mason University George Washington University Georgetown University Medical Center	Howard University Johns Hopkins University Morgan State University Nova Southeastern University Shenandoah University Southern Adventist University Texas A&M School of Public Health Towson University University of Central Florida	University of Delaware University of Georgia University of Houston University of Maryland University of Memphis University of North Carolina University of South Carolina University of Texas Virginia Commonwealth University

For more information on MEPS, visit the MEPS website <https://www.ahrq.gov/data/meps.html>